A bit of history. A good place to start is knowing some language history. English words come from three main sources: Germanic words; Old English was a Germanic language and most of our basic vocabulary comes from here - words like head, house, cold, and eat. Until about 500 years ago, the spellings of Germanic words matched the sounds: so sight (like German Sicht) would have been pronounced ...

Incorrect letter clicks are not read out loud, and are not written on the screen. This way the student is only exposed to the correct word structure, and doesn't need to overcome distracters due to wrong clicks. There is a gradual increase in the difficulty of writing each word. The student can repeat every difficulty level as many times as needed.
